

Welcome to the Farm Market of the Future

Simply Puur

Re-charging hurried students in more ways than one.

Fighting the freshman fifteen leaves many students going hungry, but here, there's a better option- and it won't make you late for class. With a flexible queuing space, grab-and-go or made-to-order options, and either a self-service or at-the-counter ordering, Simply Puur is an ideal way to recharge after a tough day.

But more than just clean lines and bright colors, the menu options are made from fresh and local ingredients. Even the moveable carts contain fresh produce instead of processed options. This space is truly an oasis of goodness. Add to that the USB charging lounge, flanked by a custom wood wall treatment for interest, and this site is the best way to get the good juices flowing.

Highlights

- Food Service Engineering
- Graphics
- Furniture Specifications
- Signage Design

